Department	Position Title
Northwest Territories Health and Social Services Authority	Community Social Services Worker IV
Position Number(s)	Community	Division/Region(s)
87-2018	Fort Good Hope	Child and Family Services/Sahtu

PURPOSE OF THE POSITION

The purpose of this position is to provide community based social services to identified groups, individuals and families within applicable legislation, Court Orders, Plan of Care Agreements, Voluntary Support Agreements and budgetary restraints in order to protect and improve the social well-being and functioning of families and individuals. The incumbent works within the context of the vision and principles of the Northwest Territories Health and Social Services Authority and in accordance with the Social Work Code of Ethics.

SCOPE

The Northwest Territories Health and Social Services Authority (NTHSSA) is the single provider of all health and social services in the Northwest Territories (NWT), with the exception of Hay River and Tłı̄chǫ regions, covering 1.2 million square kilometers and serving approximately 43,000 people, including First Nations, Inuit, Metis, and non-aboriginals. Health and social services include the full range of primary, secondary and tertiary health services and social services including family services, protection services, care placements, mental health, addictions, and developmental activities, delivered by more than 1,400 health and social services staff.

While the Tłı̄chǫ Community Services Agency (TCSA) will operate under a separate board and Hay River Health and Social Services Agency (HRHSSA) will in the interim, the NTHSSA will set clinical standards, procedures, guidelines and monitoring for the entire Northwest Territories. Service Agreements will be established with these boards to identify performance requirements and adherence to clinical standards, procedures, guidelines and policies as established by the NTHSSA.

Under the direction of the Minister of Health and Social Services, the NTHSSA is established to move toward one integrated delivery system as part of the government's transformation strategy.

The incumbent is accountable to the Regional Manager, Child & Family Services. The incumbent is expected to consult with the Regional Manager on a regular basis. Other resources that support social well-being are limited and include the RCMP, three nurses at the Community Health Centre, and a Mental Health and Addictions Counselor. The CSSW IV must develop a positive working relationship with all these resources, including the Community Child and Family Services Committee (where available), to provide optimum support to the children and families with which they work. A major emphasis for the social work team is the development of partnerships to foster positive development in the community.

The CSSW IV plays a key role in planning, consulting, making referrals and co-coordinating activities relevant to case plans related to family reunification, respite for families and other preventative measures which may impact the family in a positive way. In addition, close contact will occur with foster parents and other caregivers who may assist the family. Poor decision making could have a profound negative impact on a child, their family and the community. The caseload carried by the CSSW IV averages caseload number 15-20.

The CSSW IV will also be required to participate in the Family Court process, which would include preparing documents related to Child and Family Services cases and presenting information in court.

The incumbent is responsible for providing direct service delivery in several program areas including the Child and Family Services program, the Aged and Handicap program, the Foster Care Program and the Family Violence Program. Extent of direct service delivery provided is dependent upon other resources in the community. For example, the incumbent would be expected to provide crisis counseling, but would look towards other resources if available to provide ongoing therapy.

The day to day workload is often crisis oriented, unpredictable and chaotic by nature. Tight deadlines are imposed by legislation and must be observed.

The incumbent is typically the public's first contact with our agency. It is expected that the incumbent will present themselves to the public in a professional, courteous manner. They are required to adhere to the Canadian Social Work Code of Ethics as well as policies and standards developed by the Board and the Department of Health and Social Services in regards to professional conduct.
