

For an application package, visit:
www.nwt-speciesatrisk.ca

Species at Risk Stewardship Program Objectives

A project may be funded if it promotes one or more of the following objectives:

- Improves the well-being of species of concern;
- Takes protective measures for species' habitats or ecosystems;
- Encourages involvement in stewardship activities through outreach, education and awareness-building; or
- Increases stewardship-related knowledge and skills of landowners or other groups.

Enquiries and applications should be sent to:

Species at Risk Secretariat

Telephone: (867) 920-6316

Fax: (867) 873-0293

E-mail: sara@gov.nt.ca

STEWARDSHIP PROGRAM

The Species at Risk Stewardship Program provides a source of funding for projects that support the long-term protection and recovery of species that are at risk or of concern in the Northwest Territories (NWT).

www.nwt-speciesatrisk.ca

Reporting Requirements

Successful applicants must submit a project summary report.

How Much Funding is Available?

The maximum available for any project is $5,000 per year.

Funding will be evenly distributed between NWT regions based on the administrative regions:

- Inuvik region
- Sahtu region
- Deh Cho region
- North Slave region, excluding Yellowknife
- South Slave region
- Yellowknife

Who Can Apply?

To be eligible, applicants must live in the NWT and organizations must be based in the NWT. Eligible applicants include:

- Aboriginal organizations, including Renewable Resource Councils and Hunters and Trappers Committees;
- Co-management Boards;
- Schools;
- Municipalities;
- Non-profit organizations;
- Community-based groups or non-government organizations; and
- Individuals.

 Please note: Federal and territorial governments are not eligible for funding.*

How will Applications be Reviewed?

Applications will be evaluated using a standard set of evaluation criteria. Proposals must:

- Be completed in full;
- Demonstrate eligibility;
- Clearly show how the project will meet any of the program objectives; and
- Be well-planned and feasible.

How do I Apply?

Applications and deadlines are available from the Species at Risk web site:

www.nwt-speciesatrisk.ca or by

Telephone: (867) 920-6316

Fax: (867) 873-0293

Email: sara@gov.nt.ca

Which Species are Eligible?

Projects must focus on species that are:

- Native to the NWT; and
- Of conservation concern in the NWT.

For a detailed list of eligible species visit the Species at Risk web site at www.nwt-speciesatrisk.ca or call the Species at Risk Stewardship office at (867) 920-6316.

